ANIMAL WELFARE STATEMENT

Callide Valley Agricultural & Pastoral Society Incorporated (CVAPS) has a proud history of educating people about agriculture. Animals play an integral role in achieving this aim and as such, CVAPS holds a duty of care to support the welfare of all animals whilst on CVAPS property.

Callide Valley Agricultural & Pastoral Society Incorporated takes seriously its responsibility to provide people and facilities which promote good animal welfare.

Accordingly, all animals are:

- Provided with fresh water and adequate nutrition;
- Housed in comfortable surrounds with adequate space;
- Monitored for pain, injury and disease, and treated or relieved of suffering where necessary;
- Managed in such a way as to minimize stress and exhaustion; and
- Free from any drugs which modify their behaviour or mask harmful health conditions.

Care of animals on CVAPS property is underpinned by relevant State animal welfare legislation and codes of practice/standards and guidelines specifying requirements of their transportation, exhibition and management.

Recognising the critical role people play in ensuring animal welfare, CVAPS ensures that its officials and volunteers are suitably trained and experienced in providing for the welfare of animals, and are supported in their roles to identify and address concerns.

All owners and/or appointed guardians of animals on CVAPS property are reminded of their duty of care to take all reasonable measures to ensure the welfare of their animals.

Whilst observing community values and expectations pertaining to animal welfare, CVAPS strives to safeguard the rights of animal owners, exhibitors, competitors and CVAPS officials and volunteers.

CVAPS will promptly and actively respond to animal welfare incidents should they arise and engages with relevant stakeholders from time to time to ensure standards and practices are subject to continuous improvement.

CVAPS's underlying principle in relation to animal welfare is to promote education and exhibition through animal-human interaction, without compromising the welfare of animals or their patrons' enjoyment and learning experience.

General Photography Hints:

A photo should be about something. Decide what is the main point of your image and then compose your image accordingly. Do not include items that do not support the subject of your image. If the colourful sky is the highlight of your shot do not fill the bottom half of the image with the boring land. Place the horizon at the bottom third of the image so that two thirds of the shot is the stunning sky. If you divide your shot up with horizontal and vertical lines at 1/3 spacings to form a naughts and crosses grid (#) your final image will look better if the points of interest are placed along these lines or even better at one of the intersections. Consider making the scene more interesting by taking it from a viewpoint not always observed by the viewer. Get up higher and look down or get down lower and look up, get really close. For people shots (and animals as well), the eyes are very important. You should focus on the eye so that in the final image it is sharp. To achieve highlights in the eyes have the subject look towards the light or use a flash. To avoid red-eye don't have the subject look directly at the camera or use an off camera flash. Don't always use your camera in the horizontal, flip it 90 degrees and use it in the vertical mode. Photos of people often work better in the vertical or portrait mode. Photos of the countryside are often suited to the horizontal or landscape mode. A good photographer also develops a good sense of light. They know how to see the light in a scene and are able to place the subject in the light and then use the shadows to add drama and mood to the image. Above all remember there are no hard and fast rules. Keep using your camera, it will be the most important thing you do when becoming a photographer. Remember.. appreciation of a good photo is highly subjective - you will not always agree with a Judge's opinion and that doesn't matter.
